Munchies

Munchies the tiny caterpillar eats food from SoCo
By
Jennifer Cote
Munchie’s tummy growls, his appetite howls, he yearns to grow wings, maybe food could help with these things.
He finds some dip, but without a single chip.
Bypassing the dip made for quite the trip...
He found suspects so rare, Let's see if the fare.
They’re frightened so that their teeth start to chatter...
But Munchies doesn’t care, it seems not to matter.
By the end of it all, Munchies wasn’t even fatter.
Upon the pie did he see is future lie.
Feeling so full he thought he could die...
And his wings never came, and he never did fly...
